

Sonobi Cookie Policy

This site uses cookies so that you enjoy a better browsing experience.

Please be aware that if you do not accept these cookies, certain functionality on the site may not work.

These cookies help to ensure that you are shown advertising which is better tailored to your interests, both on the sonobi.com site and on other third party websites.

By accepting advertising cookies, you agree to cookies being used by the advertising partners listed below, enabling each advertising partner to access information (which may also include your IP address and/or device ID number) relating to your use of this site and other sites. Further information about how each advertising partner uses cookies and associated cookie information is available from the advertising partner's own policies, which are referenced below where available. If you do not want any particular advertising partner's cookies to be used on this website, you can let us know by emailing privacy@sonobi.com for that advertising partner in the list below.

If you choose not to allow an advertising cookie, please be aware that it will not be used on this site, however, the advertising partner may use the same or similar cookies on other sites that you visit.